In the past 30 years I have known Lyn I can honestly make the statement she is a good person of moral character quite respected and liked. I would describe Lyn as someone who is both smart and intelligent, capable, embraces challenges, competent, and who is dedicated to her cause displaying a high degree of integrity, responsibility, and ambition.

I believe Lyn would be a great asset to any organization exceeding the expectations in her interpersonal skills, problem solving abilities, and strong work ethic.

Thank you,
